President Acts to Restrict Dairy Imports

Imports of dairy products will be reduced to one-fourth the present volume beginning July 1, 1967, under a proclamation issued June 30 by President Johnson which will place import quotas on a number of dairy products for the first time.

Hailing the action as promising "long-sought relief both to dairy farmers and the taxpayer," Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman pointed out that dairy imports would cut from an annual rate of nearly 4.3 billion pounds milk equivalent currently to about 1 billion pounds.

Since January 1 through June 27 USDA purchases under the Dairy Price Support Program are 208 million pounds of butter, 101.9 million pounds of cheese, and 379 million pounds of dry milk — or the milk equivalent of 5.5 billion pounds — at a cost of $265.6 million.

Dairy imports have increased sharply from about 900 million pounds milk equivalent in 1965 to 2.8 billion pounds in 1966 and are running at an annual rate of nearly 4.3 billion pounds during the first half of 1967. Most of the increase has been in the form of butterfat/sugar mixtures used in ice cream manufacture, and Colby cheese, a Cheddar-like cheese used mainly in manufacturing process American cheese.

The proclamation, issued under the authority of Sec. 22 of the Agriculture Adjustment Act, as amended, will result in an overall annual level of dairy imports of around one billion pounds of milk equivalent. This will bring imports to less than 1 percent of domestic milk production, which currently is running at about 121 billion pounds annually.

The cutback in imports will be achieved by bringing the high-volume items under the existing import quota system for the first time. These items include the butterfat/sugar mixtures, such as Junex; Colby and other American types of cheese other than Cheddar (which is now under quota); and frozen cream. Butter, butteroil, dried milks, certain competitive cheese, and other dairy products already are imported under quotas. Certain items with limited markets, including chocolate crumb, process Edam and Gouda, and processed Italian-type cheese will not be placed under the quotas system.

Secretary Freeman emphasized that the presidential proclamation will result in a volume of imports substantially below the overall level recommended by the Tariff Commission. Under Sec. 22, the President directs the Commission to investigate the impact of imports on domestic farm programs and to report its findings and recommendations to him. The Commission report recommended quotas under which total imports would have been around 2.8 billion pounds milk equivalent, or about the 1966 level. That recommendation according to Secretary Freeman "would add about $100 million annually to the cost of the Dairy Price Support Program compared with the level proclaimed by the President."

The Secretary welcomed the President's action as a measure which "will help relieve the cost-price squeeze which dairy farmers particularly have felt in recent years. The President's action will end an intolerable situation where both the farmer and the taxpayer have lost, and where the consumer has gained no discernible benefit."

According to the proclamation, effective July 1, 1967, annual imports of all American-type cheese will be limited by quotas to a total of approximately 16 million pounds. This includes an increase in the previous Cheddar cheese quota of about 2.8 million pounds, as well as a new quota for Colby and other American-type cheese, and a separate quota of 1,225,000 pounds for Cheddar aged 9 months or more. By comparison, 1966 imports of Colby cheese alone were 46.8 million pounds. In the first half of 1967, Colby imports were about 50 million pounds.

Butterfat/sugar mixtures will be restricted to 2,580,000 pounds annually. This figure is only a fraction of the 106 million pounds imported in 1966 and is approximately the 1961-65 average before the import surge began.

Frozen cream also will be brought under quota. The limit is set at 1.5 million gallons annually.

Quota shares (by country) for American-type cheese will be announced later. Detailed regulations covering licensing procedures and related matters will be issued by the Department of Agriculture in the near future.

* Subject to location differentials where applicable. In the case of members of approved cooperatives, these prices are subject to the deductions authorized by the associations. The prices listed do not include any premium payments which may be paid by handlers and which may bring actual payments in excess of the minimum requirements.
